With effect from 1st September 2020

The Town and Country Planning (Use Classes) Amendment (England) Regulations 2020 (SI 2020 No.757) amended the Town and Country Planning (Uses Classes) Order 1987. The effect was to revoke Parts A and D and to revise Parts B of the original Schedule and to introduce three new Use Classes. The new Use Classes are summarised in the table below. The new classes will formally come into force in England from 1 September 2020. There are transitional arrangements in place in respect of permitted development rights, (Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015), as amended, until 21 July 2021. Further information is provided in our accompanying briefing note.
